HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains traded at mostly lower price levels across the nation during the week ended August 13. Main market depressing news was the U.S. crop report which indicates near record production. Wheat is estimated at 2.7, corn at 7.7 and soybeans at 2.0 billion bushels. Wheat supply edged downward but still considered ample for expanded consumption and trade.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved mostly lower in spite of a spurt in export trading during the week as the enlarged coarse grain crop forecast weighed against values. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 3 3/4 cents and Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat dipped 3 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell 13 1/4 cents but Portland soft white wheat closed 1 cent higher to 2 cents lower.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets declined sharply as crop prospects improved over nearly all of the Corn Belt during the past month. More rain is needed in the Southern half of the country. Frequent rains in the upper Midwest has been beneficial to corn but is damaging barley, oats and spring wheat. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn traded 21 1/2 cents lower but Kansas City milling quality white corn was steady.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats traded in a narrow range as frequent rains continue to hamper harvest. Oats at Minneapolis rose 1 - 5 cents and best malting barley traded up 10 cents. Feed barley markets followed other grain lower.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets moved down in spite of slowed farmer selling. Kansas City market dropped 34 cents and Texas High Plains market fell 35 - 50 cents pr hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

A slight decline in Brazilian soybean production was partially offset by the larger U.S. production forecast. Recent strong U.S. currency market has cut export movement of soybeans and meal, and slowed domestic feed use further constricted trade. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 30 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed eased 10 cents lower. Duluth sunflower seed traded steady.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains traded in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended August 20. A weaker U.S. dollar market accompanied by gold strength caused a flurry of export business, the worsening condition of crops in China and the USSR added strength. Offsetting news included poor feeding margins, good pastures over much of the country which reduced feeder buying interest, and tight storage space in several areas encouraged spot selling to free up space for fall harvested grains.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed mixed as large world supply was offset by heavy disappearance forecast. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 4 3/4 cents per bushel. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat eased 1/4 cent lower. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 5 1/2 cents. Portland soft white wheat rose 3 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets gained strength on steady purchases of small amounts of old crop corn by USSR for delivery this year. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn advanced 5 1/2 cents. Kansas City milling quality white corn fell 25 cents per bushel. Users were well supplied and anticipate a larger crop than the industry can utilize for milling.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets showed strength as mills needed good quality which has been scarce due to rain during most of the harvest season. The Minneapolis market rose 5-7 cents. Current markets are well above last season. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to down 15 cent as malsters turned selective in their buying as the heavy summer brewing season neared the end. Feed barley markets moved mixed as improved harvest weather was offset by increased export activity.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets failed to follow rising cash corn as the harvest progressed steadily northward with forecast of heavy yields, and with tight storage in some areas, farm selling expanded. Kansas City multi-car market dropped 9 cents and the Texas High Plains market moved steady to 15 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Yellow soybeans traded mostly higher as the weaker U.S. currency market set off a flurry of export bean, meal, and oil sales. Cooler temperatures indicated a threat of early freeze possibility and this contributed strength to corn and soybean markets. Chicago No.1 yellow soybeans rose 8 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 20 cents per bushel under new crop harvest pressure. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 30 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

The large U.S. feed grain crop outweighed crop deterioration in USSR and Central Europe to move most wheat and feed grain markets to lower price levels across the nation during the week ended Augst 27. Relatively strong U.S. currency depressed export trade and high interest rates kept dometic buying strictly hand to mouth. Spotty market strength came from tight holding at the farm level, small but fairly steady buying of wheat and corn by USSR and prospects of a Canadian dock workers strike contributed support at the close of the period.

WHEAT:

Harvest weather turned good over the spring wheat areas and hard red winter wheat harvest was virtually complete. Spotty selling pressure developed in areas where storage facilities were full but most farmers showed a strong holding tendency on market declines. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat dipped 5 1/2 cents lower. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat eased 2 cents lower. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell 7 cents. Portland soft white wheat moved 2 cents lower per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets fell under pressure of the large prospective feed grain production. High interest rates and poor animal feeding margins depressed domestic business and the strong U.S. currency market kept export trade at minimum levels. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved down 31 cents. Kansas City milling quality white corn fell 10 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Markets turned mixed as harvest tempo picked up, export loadings expanded and slowed brewing reduced malting barley demand to a point that offerings were moved into feed channels. Minneapolis heavy oats fell 4-10 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to 20 cents lower. Portland western feed barley rose 3 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets declined under pressure of the large feed grain crop and rapidly expanding sorghum harvest. Kansas City market declined 21 cents. Texas High Plains market was not quoted on Thursday but on Wednesday was down 25-30 cents per hundred pounds from last week. The Los Angeles market dropped 28 cents during the period.

OILSEEDS:

Continued good crop production forecast outweighed the threat of an early frost and soybean markets declined sharply. Slowed inspections for export added weight to the decline. Narrow crush markets and slowed domestic and export soybean meal movement reduced crushers needs to acquire soybean stocks. Spotty selling pressure developed where farmers wanted to clear out storage space for the new crop. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans went down 27 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady due to lack of farmer selling. Sunflower seed markets declined sharply as crusher demand slowed. Duluth market fell 90 cents and Minneapolis market dropped 40 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved to mostly higher price levels across the nation during the week ended September 3. Reports of possible food rationing in Russia coupled with Russian request for an increased long range wheat and feed grain purchase agreement with the U.S. furnished most of the strength at the close. Added support came from unseasonably cool temperatures and excess moisture over much of the U.S. Corn and Soybean Belt and the dock worker strike at Thunder Bay Canada.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved mostly higher due to last week's increased inspection for export coupled with new sales to Turkey and Russia and a 15 percent acreage set aside program. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved up 11 1/2 cents per bushel. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat advanced 11 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 6 1/2 cents but medium milling quality hard amber durum wheat traded steady to up 5 cents as the heavy receipts were mostly of poor milling quality. Portland soft white wheat market moved steady to 4 cents lower due to build up of stocks at export position.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved up on increased rate of new crop sales to Russia and other countries. Cool, wet weather hampered maturity and some corn was cut for silage in the Corn Belt. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn went up 11 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged in dull trade.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Lack of country offerings moved heavy oats markets higher. Minneapolis oats traded 7-9 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley closed steady to 10 cents lower per bushel. Feed barley markets were dull but light offerings raise prices at some points.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum market firmed as export trade picked up and strong cash corn markets contributed support. Kansas City multi-car sorghum traded 20 cents higher per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains market showed little price movement as harvest moved northward and storage space is lacking in some areas.

OILSEEDS:

Cool, wet conditions delayed soybean maturity and farmers tightened hold on old crop soybeans. Crusher demand was spotty but weaker U.S. currency picked up export trading. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 6 3/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 20 cents per bushel under new crop harvest pressure as storage space is very tight. Duluth sunflower seed declined 70 cents per hundred pounds. Lack of new export business and poor crush margins weakened the market for sunflower seed.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Feed grain markets turned lower across the nation during the holiday shortened week ended September 10. Wheat markets finished mixed as strong export demand continued to draw down supplies and productive exports to Russia, China and Taiwan for 1981-82 crops are now substantial. Forecast of large corn and soybean crop prospects coupled with improved weather depressed feed grains and soybean markets.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets were mostly higher as export trade picked up sharply for both old crop and new crop positions. Ground moisture is generally adequate for seeding winter wheat and fall plowing made good progress. Farmers are hopeful that winter wheat will be established in time to provide fair amounts of pasture. Kansas City hard red ordinary protein winter wheat advanced 2 1/2 cents per bushel. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat rose 6 1/2 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell 8 cents. Portland soft white wheat closed steady to 1 cent lower. Minneapolis No. 2 rye traded up 20 to 25 cents due to tight holding at the farm level.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets declined under pressure of increased farm selling as weather improved over most of the Corn Belt and farmers started cleaning out farm storage in preparation for the new crop. Plentiful pasturage and poor feeding margins have limited feed demand. High interest rates continue to discourage stockpiling feedstuffs and trade is confined to immediate needs only. Relatively strong U.S. dollar market has depressed corn and soybean trade to European buyers. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dropped 15 3/4 cent per bushel. Kansas City rail white corn market eased 5 cents lower per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets declined under selling pressure as mills needs were well supplied from farm offerings. The Minneapolis market declined 4 to 5 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded firmly unchanged as offerings tapered off. Feed barley declined along with other cash feed grain markets. Minneapolis market went down 7 cents and Los Angeles market eased 2 to 3 cents lower per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets fell along with cash corn as harvest moved northward into Kansas and export interest fell off. Kansas City multi-car market dropped 20 cents and Texas High Plains market fell 5 to 15 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets fell sharply under pressure from the nearby record harvest. Harvest started early along the lower Mississippi River Valley with fields reported as low as 20 bushels to the acre where soils have been too dry most of the summer. More normal yields of around 40 bushels per acre were reported in northernmost fields cut this week. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 20 3/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 15 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed closed 40 cents lower per hundred pounds. Poor crushing margins depressed oilseed markets and relative dollar strength kept European buying at low levels.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended September 17. World use of grains is expected to expand but at a lower pace than world production. Good export sales coupled with threat of frost damage over the upper midwest was a partial offset to the large impending U.S. feed grain harvest and nearly ideal new winter wheat crop seeding conditions. Ample moisture over most areas contributed weakness as pastures remain in mostly good conditions. The warm frost trailing the mid week cold front is expected to aid filling and maturing fall harvested grains. Settling of Canadian dock workers strike added strength at the close.

WHEAT:

Nearly ideal conditions for planting winter wheat offset the good export demand for wheat. Flour mill demand was good for domestic flour but poor for interior export flour mills. Farmers continued to sell soft red and hard red winter wheat in preparation for storing the large sorghum, corn and soybean crops. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 3 1/4 cents per bushels. Chicago soft red winter wheat market climbed 4 cents higher per bushel. Large export sales of soft red winter wheat was the main support. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat traded 3/4 cent higher per bushel. Heavy ship arrivals on the lakes waterways to pick up grain ahead of winter closure of lake ports furnished the strength. Portland soft white wheat eased 1-4 cents lower as ship arrivals slowed and adequate stocks discouraged stockpiling. Minneapolis rye rose 5-15 cents as supplies are tightly held at the farm level.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets declined in the face of large old crop stocks and the rapidly maturing new crop. Harvest is moving into the upper Midwest but remains spotty. Farmers offered old crop in increasing amounts in an effort to clean bins and this put pressure on terminal elevators which are at near operating capacity. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dipped 3 1/4 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn fell 10 cents per bushel. Mills are covered for nearby needs, old crop supply is plentiful and harvest of new crop white corn has started in early fields of the midwest.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved higher as good milling quality is scarce and tightly held. The Minneapolis oats market rose 6-7 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 25 cents lower as demand was at the seasonal low as brewers cut back to winter production schedules. Portland feed barley rose 2-5 cents per bushel. Minneapolis feed barley traded steady.

SORGHUM:

New crop harvest pressure forced sorghum prices at Kansas City 12 cents lower per hundred pounds. Lower cash corn markets contributed to the market weakness. Texas High Plains market advanced 5-20 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets moved mostly higher as frost threat over much of the northern soybean area prompted buyers to cover nearby needs. Actual frost damage is unknown but thought to be minimal. The warm front trailing the cold front is expected to force maturity of soybeans in northern areas. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 7 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed declined 30 cents per bushel. Slow processor demand forced the market lower. Expanded sunflower seed crush pushed Duluth market 35 cents higher per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat markets moved mostly higher across the nation during the week ended September 24.

Record wheat inspections for export for last week coupled with large volume of export wheat sales to Russia, China and other countries supported the market. The higher prices encouraged farm selling and resulted in heavier hedge pressure on futures markets and this cut into the price advance at the end of the period. Feed grain markets moved mostly lower due to poor feeding margins, reduced number of animals on feed, large supply of old crop grain, a large new feed grain crop, high interest rates which discouraged stockpiling, and a stronger U.S. currency market.

WHEAT:

Most wheat markets moved higher as new exports sales and record shipments last week combined to support higher prices on farms, to terminal elevators and for export position. Expanded farm selling took away part of the price advance at the end of the week. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 4 1/4 cents higher and Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat advanced 4 1/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 4 cents but Portland soft white wheat close unchanged.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets found little support and declined under pressure of the expanding new crop harvest and large stocks of old crop supplies. Poor feeding margins, high interest rates and reduced number of animals on feed contributed to the weaker market. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn declined 10 3/4 cents per bushel. Kansas City white corn fell 15 cents per bushel. Heavy old crop supply and new crop offerings combined to depress prices.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved mixed as higher prices tended to depress buyers ideas but with offerings of good milling quality short of needs in spots. The Minneapolis oats market fell 7-8 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley held unchanged but feed barley traded up 5 cents per bushel. Portland feed barley dropped 5 cents but the Los Angeles market went up 3-5 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets were dull and lower prices in major production areas as new crop harvest spread northward. Kansas City multi-car offerings fell 12 cents and the Texas High Plains market dropped 5-10 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

New crop soybean harvest moved into the Corn Belt with yields indicating a record crop.

Soybean meal and oil markets declined due to slowed export and poor domestic feeding marketing. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybean declined 33 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady. Duluth sunflower seed fell 15 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly lower across the nation during the week ended October

1. Poor financial performance in U.S. and world trading centers depressed trade. Spreading harvest countered news that Russia is offered and additional 15 million metric tons of U.S. grains. Uncertainty as to how much of this grain would be actually purchased and uncertainty as to the breakdown between wheat and feed grains, kept traders on the sidelines awaiting firm news of actual business. Strong U.S. currency market coupled with high interest rates and poor feeding margins further depressed export and domestic trade.

WHEAT:

Wheat traded mostly lower but white wheat in the Pacific Northwest excepted the general trend and moved higher. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 1/4 cent lower per bushel. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat dipped 5 1/2 cents lower and Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 4 1/4 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat rose 4-9 cents per bushel.

CORN:

In spite of heavy inspections for export last week, the yellow corn markets moved generally lower as harvest spread rapidly into northern areas. Early frost and heavy rain damaged crops in a few spots of the northern tier of states. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn eased 3 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn dropped 5 cents as new crop offerings competed against ample old crop stocks.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved narrowly mixed in light trade Minneapolis No. 2 heavy oats closed down 2 cents to up 1 cent at $1.95-2.03. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged as tight storage kept malsters out of the market. Feed barley markets declined 1-5 cents per bushel as demand slowed.

SORGHUM:

Harvest pressure moved most sorghum markets lower but exporters needing grain to load a waiting ship furnished some strength at the close of the period. Kansas City multi-car sorghum fell 5 cents per hundred pounds but Texas High Plains closed steady.

OILSEED:

Harvest pressure and reduced crusher margin combined to lower cash soybean markets. Chicago

No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 9 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 15 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed closed steady as several ships were arriving to load export.

WHEAT STRONGER; FEED GRAINS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat traded higher but feed grain markets moved mixed as market information for the week was offsetting. Harvest delays by rain early in the period was replaced by near ideal weather at midweek. Frost and freeze damage has been limited to a few spots in the northern tier of states. Well regulated farm selling was offset by crowded storage facilities which has prompted elevators to become selective in buying. Lower U.S. dollar encouraged some pick up in export trade early, but this faded late in the week as traders awaited official feed grain crop prospect report. Opening of the reserve program to feed grains added a little support as did the reduction of interest rates. Interest rates remain above the level which would encourage stockpiling of grains and feedstuffs.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets were supported by well regulated farm selling and near record inspections for export last week. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 1/2 cent higher per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 6 3/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein rose 7 1/2 cents and Portland soft white wheat rose 6 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Corn showed surprising strength as rains delayed harvest and some freeze and frost damage was reported in northern areas. Chicago No.2 yellow corn in hopper cars went up 3 1/4 cents per bushel. Kansas City rail white corn held unchanged in thin trade but truck bids continued to fall and are at a discount to No.2 yellow corn.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Demand for milling quality oats picked up as farm offerings turned light when farmers turned to corn and soybean harvest. The Chicago market rose 7 1/2 cents while the Minneapolis market went 4-5 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley ranged steady to 15 cents higher as receipts dropped and buying interest expanded. Feed barley traded mixed in light trade.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum closed mixed as light harvest in the midwest failed to supply nearby needs but in Texas the High Plains market was 5 cents lower as harvest is virtually complete in early areas.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets were supported by rain delayed harvest and some frost and freeze damage in northern areas. The weaker U.S. dollar increased export demand early in the period. Chicago No.1 yellow soybeans in hopper cars rose 13 1/2 cents per bushel, down $1.47 1/4 from last season. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 5 cents per bushel as nearby needs were filled. Sunflower seed closed mixed, up 15 cents at Duluth to down 30 cents per hundred pounds at Minneapolis.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly higher price levels across the nation during the week ended October 15. Argentina and Australia grain crops suffering from inadequate moisture and the Russian grain production continuing to be estimated lower each week. Plentiful on farm stocks of roughage feed grains has limited demand for complete feeds but has furnished expanded need for supplemental type rations. Livestock movement to winter feeding quarters added a little support to feed business. Flour mills reduced grind to compensate for slow export flour business. Corn processors showed a little expansion of run time. Lower interest rates are encouraging but the current 18 percent prime rate remains above the level necessary to stimulate stockpiling feedstuffs and grains. Light farm selling is the main market support.

WHEAT:

Farm selling declined as farmers were concerned with rain delays of fall harvested grains. Export demand was slow and flour mills bought only to replace slowed grind. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 9 1/4 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 3 3/4 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat went up 2 1/4 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat ranged 7-10 cents higher. Minneapolis rye advanced 10 cents due to light receipts.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved mixed as rains delayed harvest but storage facilities are tight and most areas were concentrating on getting soybeans under cover. The Chicago market closed up 4 cents per bushel. Other markets ranged 2 1/2 cents lower to 7 cents per bushel higher compared with last week. Late week buying by processors contributed some support.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Light farm selling strengthened oat and barley markets. Minneapolis heavy oats rose 3-6 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to 10 cents higher per bushel. Feed barley markets finished in a mixed trend with the Minneapolis market up 3 cents but the Portland market closed steady to down 4 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets were supported by expanded export demand and prices moved generally higher. Kansas City market advanced 4 cents and Texas High Plains market went up 15-20 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets were supported by rain delayed harvest, slowed farm offerings, good export movement and strong crusher demand. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 1 3/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held unchanged. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 45 cents per hundred pounds. Slowed export demand was credited with the weaker trend.

HIGHLIGHTS:

The large impending corn and soybean crop overhangs the market in spite of tight farmer holding, rain delayed harvest and increased export sales. Corn and soybean prices dropped sharply over the nation during the week ended October 22. Wheat markets traded in a mixed price trend as export demand expanded.

WHEAT:

Increased export business gave wheat markets most of the support during the week as increased flour grind in the Eastern half of the country was offset by slower mill run on the West Coast. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved 1 cent higher per bushel. Chicago trade was disrupted on Thursday by a bomb threat. Chicago soft red winter wheat closed 2 3/4 cents lower. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 4 1/2 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat traded 4 cents higher per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets declined sharply under pressure of a large crop. Markets moved lower in spite of tight farmer holding and rain delayed harvest. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dropped 8 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn market dull and unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY

Light offerings moved most oats and barley markets higher in spite of relatively quiet demand. Minneapolis heavy oats rose 7 3/4 cents per bushel, Minneapolis best malting barley traded at $2.90-3.20 per bushel. Feed barley at Portland advanced 4 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets declined under pressure of spreading harvest and lower cash corn markets. Texas High Plains market fell 5 cents and the Kansas City market dropped 13 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Soybean prices moved sharply lower in spite of tight farmer holding, rain delayed harvest, and the reported sale of 500,000 tons to Russia for the first half of 1982 delivery. Illinois Processor Point price declined 12 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents as crushers switched from sunflower seed to flax processing. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 5 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat traded higher across the nation during the week ended October 29. World stocks decline was larger than expected and good export trading supported wheat values in spite of good growing conditions in the U.S. winter wheat area and some improvement in Argentina and Russian wheat production areas. Feed grains showed a mixed trend as the U.S. harvest expanded rapidly with large production overhanging the market. Farm selling was well regulated with most grain being stored for farmer account. Country elevators offered grain to clean bins where space was needed and piling of corn on the ground could occur if favorable harvest weather continues. Farmers concentrated efforts toward getting soybeans under cover and this held up corn and sorghum harvest.

WHEAT:

Continued good export sales volume to Russia, China, Korea, Japan, Philippines and Portugal gave wheat markets good underlying support as did reports of larger than anticipated wheat feeding which reduced world wheat stocks. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat advanced 7 cents and Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat rose 5 3/4 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat moved up 9 1/2 cents. Portland soft white wheat ranged 2-4 cents higher. Minneapolis rye went 10-15 cents higher due to good mill interest.

CORN:

Corn markets moved mixed as farmers concentrated harvest efforts on soybeans and fair exports coupled with mill and processor buying kept meager farm offerings cleaned up. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn eased 1 1/4 cents lower per bushel. The Kansas City multi-car yellow corn market advanced 10 cents due to short covering. Kansas City milling quality white corn held steady as supplies are adequate for mill needs.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets are relatively quiet with light offerings of good quality grain. Minneapolis best malting barley and feed grade barley traded steady. Minneapolis oats rose 7 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum harvest is making good progress in Southern areas but farmers in the midwest are waiting to complete soybean and corn harvest before starting sorghum cutting. Light offerings traded up 11 cents at Kansas City and steady to 5 cents higher in the Texas High Plains per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets were narrowly mixed as farmers were busy with heavy harvest operations and offered few soybeans for sale. Poor crush margins depressed buyers and basis had to be increased to encourage selling. Export demand was good early in the week but faded when the U.S. dollar strengthened, cutting off European trading. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans eased 1/4 cents lower per bushel. Illinois Points market rose 1/2-2 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed traded 15 cents higher due to good export oil business. Duluth sunflower seed moved 10 cents higher per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Rain slowed harvest over much of the Grain Belt the week ended November 5, and most prices for wheat and feed grains edged upward. Lower interest rates with some banks reducing current rate to 17-17.5% contributed some support. U.S. currency weakness caused expansion in European buying, especially of oilseed and oilseed products. Inspections for export were disappointing for wheat and corn but picked up for soybeans. Farmers continued to hold grain tightly and found storage for most of the grain harvested to date. Barge movement picked up as the season ends this weekend on the Missouri River and is expected to end on the upper Mississippi in early December.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved higher at all markets except Portland as usage figures continue to run heavier than expected. At Portland plentiful offerings kept the market weak. Flour mills bought actively to replace grind and farm offerings were light as farmers were more concerned with harvest and storage operations than in marketing grain. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat advanced 5 1/2 cents per bushel. The Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat traded 3 cents higher per bushel. Portland soft white wheat eased 2 cents lower per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets advanced in spite of disappointing inspections for export figures as rains delayed harvest in the midwest. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars rose 6 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn remains in slow demand with most needs covered through winter months and the rail market fell 5 cents per bushel. This is 3.65 per bushel below comparable date last year.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Supplies of good quality oats and barley continue to tighten and fairly good demand kept markets strong. Minneapolis milling quality oats advanced 5-10 cents, up 15-20 cents per bushel from last season. Minneapolis best malting barley held steady to up 10 cents per bushel with offerings and demand light. Feed grade barley stronger and up 8 cents at Minneapolis and 2-5 cents higher at Los Angeles.

SORGHUM:

Rains delayed sorghum harvest and improved export demand pulled grain from interior markets, firming prices. Kansas City multi-car sorghum went up 2 cents and the Gulf export price advanced 28 cents for direct shipments per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Rain delayed harvest, tight farm holding, increased export inspections and expanded European buying firmed soybean markets. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans ranged 15 1/4 cents higher and was $2.14 1/2 per bushel under last years market. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 10 cents and Duluth sunflower seed traded 55 cents higher. Duluth sunflower seed is currently 40 cents per hundred pounds below last season.

NOTICE

Livestock and Grain Market News reports will be available to the public on a 24-hour direct dial telephone line beginning November 16. This is a project conducted in cooperation with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company at no cost to the Government. Information can be obtained at a cost of 50 cents per call by dialing 900-976-2303. HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat moved to mostly higher price levels across the nation during the week ended November 12. Market support came from reduced interest rates which strengthened financial markets, weakened U.S. currency in Europe which caused a pick up in export trade and a larger wheat disappearance figure than expected. Tight farm selling contributed some support but was largely offset in the feed grain market by a five day forecast for favorable harvest weather in the grain belt.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved mostly higher as tight farm holding, mills competing with exporters for dwindling offerings, increased export and less carryover wheat going into the 1982-83 marketing season all combined to support markets. Portland soft white wheat held unchanged to up 2 cents per bushel. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed up 3 1/2 cents and Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 7 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat rose 9 1/2 cents as increased mill buying added strenght.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved lower as weekly inspections for export were disappointing and harvest tempo picked up with a favorable five day weather forecast for the nation's midsection. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn eased 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn trade dull and unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved higher as short positions met a reduced supply. Cash market prices advanced 6-12 1/4 cents per bushel. Barley markets traded mixed and tended to follow yellow corn markets in the midwest. Portland feed barley advanced under tight farmer holding and good export demand.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum trade light as frequent rains have delayed harvest progress over wide areas. The Texas High Plains market closed steady to up 5 cents per hundred pounds. Kansas City rail car market went up 2 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets trended lower under pressure of lighter inspections for export, narrow crush margins and favorable harvest weather returning to the soybean belt. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans moved 7 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents per bushel as good crusher buying interest supported the market. Duluth sunflower seed rose 45 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly lower across the nation during the week ended November 19. Elevators piled grain on the ground in some spots as harvest of fall grain rapidly approached completion. Slowed export sales and poor domestic feed business depressed markets. Tight farm holding and the first winter storm of the year moving into the upper midwest limited price declines at the close.

WHEAT:

Favorable winter wheat crop prospects in the U.S. and USSR tended to weaken wheat markets. Farmer selling remains well regulated and mills competed with exporters for supplies. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat eased 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Chicago soft red winter dipped 9 3/4 cents lower after China cancelled their purchase of 200,000 tons of soft red winter wheat. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 11 1/2 cents per bushel. Decline in Duluth export demand credited with the weakness. Portland soft white wheat dipped 5 cents lower per bushel.

CORN:

Chicago No. 2 yellow corn advanced 3 1/4 cents due to tight farm holding as farmers rush to wind up harvest which was delayed by the first winter storm moving into the upper midwest. Other markets showed moderate price declines as storage facilities are full and some grain is being piled on the ground. White corn markets were mostly unchanged but with a little more activity as short covering pulled some corn out of storage.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets declined as heavier offerings offset good demand. The Minneapolis market declined 6-7 cents per bushel. Barley markets showed little price movement except for feed barley at Minneapolis which rose 3 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets inactive with farmers busy winding up harvest operations. Dull feeder demand caused the Kansas City market to ease 1 cent lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Cash soybean markets declined in spite of tight farmer holding as dull export demand and poor feed business cut needs. Weaker soybean meal and soybean oil markets weighed against soybean values. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans eased 3 1/4 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 30 cents per bushel as crushers expanded production of meal and oil. Duluth sunflower seed fell 45 cents per hundred pounds as heavy offerings caused a build up of cars on track.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat moved lower across the nation while feed grains traded in a mixed price trend during the holiday shortened period ended November 25, many traders evened up positions and prepared to take a long weekend. Mild temperatures, ample pasturage and plentiful supplies of home grown grains and roughage coupled with poor feeding margins kept domestic feeder demand slow. Flour mills reduced grind as low as 3 days at many plants this week. Export trade was fairly active but lacked the large single trades of recent weeks. Some strength developed as harvest neared completion for soybeans and feed grains.

WHEAT:

Slowed flour mill grind, favorable winter wheat crop progress in Russia and the U.S. and disappointing level of new export business weighed on wheat market values. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat eased 1 cent lower, and is 38 cents per bushel under year ago market. Chicago soft red winter wheat dipped 4 3/4 cents lower, down 76 3/4 cents from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 4 3/4 cents, down 52 1/4 cents from last year. Portland soft white wheat moved 4-6 cents lower.

CORN:

No.2 yellow corn markets finished mixed as tight farm holding forced some markets higher where quantities were needed for processing or export. The Chicago market eased 1 1/4 cents lower. Now 95 1/4 cents per bushel below last season. The Memphis market moved up 5 cents but is $1.04 per bushel under year ago price level.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets declined sharply as increased offerings of cash oats and evening up of deliverable supplies and open interest at Chicago took the pressure off traders. Chicago heavy oats fell 10 3/4 cents, only 1 1/4 cents below year ago market. The Minneapolis market dropped 2-8 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley declined 10-20 cents, down 80-90 cents per bushel from last season. Slow brewery demand and heavy offerings depressed the market. Feed barley fell 23 cents as the barge season ends this week and the lake shipping season is scheduled to end in two weeks.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade dull and all reporting markets declined. Kansas City market fell 13 cents and the Texas High Plains market moved 5-10 cents lower. Current markets are $1.95-2.00 per hundred pounds under last season.

OILSEED:

Poor feeder and export demand for soybean meal coupled with lower prices for oil and meal depressed soybean markets. Illinois crusher prices were steady to 1 cent lower or $2.72-2.78 per bushel under year ago market. Minneapolis flaxseed per bushel down 90 cents from last season. Duluth sunflower seed fell 10 cents per hundred pounds as export season neared completion and crusher demand was dull.
